Summer is finally here. The ADA wants to remind us of the importance of our kids' oral hygiene. We hope that you find the below article a benefit to your family.

Parents Encouraged To Prioritize Kids' Oral Hygiene In Summer.

The Unionville \(PA\) Times (7/6) carries a summer guide to dental health for parents looking to keep their children's teeth and gums healthy while their kids aren't in school. The article advises that parents should "keep oral hygiene a priority," adding that "there are many online games and mobile apps that reinforce good oral habits," such as the ADA's Mouth Healthy Kids. It goes on to say that summer is also a "great time to be sure that every child's dental visits are up to date," adding that children entering school in Pennsylvania for the first time in the fall "will need to have the state dental exam record completed by a dentist," and must be completed before third and seventh grades as well.
